For the third repeated year the winery in the Valpolicella awarded by Gambero Rosso

Three times Tre Bicchieri for Villa Spinosa

Amarone Classico "Albasini" 2010 awarded the highest scores by the guide "Vini d'Italia 2018"

The Tre Bicchieri by Gambero Rosso goes to Villa Spinosa for the third consecutive year. The Amarone Classico della Valpolicella Docg 2010 "Albasini" has been awarded the highest point review by the wine guide "Vini d'Italia 2018", after the awards already assigned in 2016 to "Jago" Valpolicella Ripasso Classico Superiore Doc 2011 and in 2017 to Amarone della Valpolicella Classico Doc 2008.

"Albasini" is an Amarone of great structure and remarkable persistence; this is our idea of a traditional and unconventional style, which makes sobriety and elegance its strength and identity.

"For the whole team of Villa Spinosa this is a goal that rewards our wine style, always inspired by the tradition and strongly bond to the region of the Valpolicella," says Enrico Cascella Spinosa who leads the company in Jago di Negrar, in the heart of the Valpolicella Classica, where the grapes from the three cru vineyards of Jago, Figari and Costa del Buso are turned into wine. "This is the success of a team, a group of young collaborators who believed in the Villa Spinosa project and engaged themselves with passion, sincerity and constancy. The Tre Bicchieri is a reward to a long work, started when we replanted the vineyards, continued with the construction of new and modern spaces with respect for the environment, thus combining the needs of the company and the comfort of our employees but always preserving a beautiful and natural scenery like Jago, unique in the Valpolicella. "

As this edition of the guide "Vini d'Italia 2018" confirms, the Amarone is one of the most important symbols of the Italian and international wine production, and Villa Spinosa is a true interpreter of it.

The next appointment to taste the Amarone "Albasini" awarded by the guide is in Rome, on October 22nd at the award ceremony of all Tre Bicchieri of Italy. "Later on," concludes Cascella Spinosa, "we will take part in the world tour bringing us on European and American markets during the international events organized by Gambero Rosso."
